

Hello!

I'm Salam Sakkabi.

I am a graduate architect with a Master of Architecture from Swinburne University of Technology and three and a half years of experience in residential and architectural design.

My background has given me a strong foundation in drafting, documentation, and project coordination, supported by a passion for problem-solving and detail.

This portfolio presents a selection of my university projects, showcasing my approach to design—balancing functionality, aesthetics, and sustainability to create thoughtful, human-centered spaces. I believe architecture has the power to shape better environments and am committed to contributing positively to the built world.
